The village has an 11th century round tower church. The interior is unadorned but has an interesting font which receives special mention in Pevsner. The castle, now ruined, belonged to the son of the poet Chaucer and appears prominently in the Paston Papers. It is also the birthplace of Thomas Gresham, founder of the Royal Exchange and Greshams school.

Renowned for its award-winning sandy beaches, Banksy's Great British Spraycation artwork, and its famous Crabs, the scenic coastal town of Cromer boasts impressive views of the medieval church, which has the highest tower in Norfolk. Sheringham's motto, 'The sea enriches and the pine adorns', sets the scene for all that this traditional seaside town encompasses. Holt has a strong sense of community which thrives among the proud residents and local business, the local 'Love Holt' initiative which waves the flag for independent shops adds vibrancy to the Georgian town centre.
