NOTICE TO ALL SELLERS AND BUYERS

This applies to all buyers and sellers that have been messed around over the past year and will help give each of you more confidence in today's market place. At Easton Residential we have been collecting pre-contract deposits for over a year now. They are provided by the buyer to show their sincerity and commitment to buying the property.

As a SELLER ask yourself the question, if your proposed buyer isn't prepared to lodge a nominal deposit then how serious are they? Do you therefore want to incur costs with a buyer that won't see the deal through?

But as a BUYER you won't lose the deposit if going through with the deal. It will however give your seller more confidence to agree a deal with you and puts them in a far better position to purchase an onward property. Everyone benefits.

We have caveats that give both parties security but since we've been doing this our success rate from deals being agreed to going through to completion has soared significantly, we just don't get messed around. Call Glenn now to discuss the matter in more depth and to see how we hold our client's interests as a priority.
