This property presents a compelling development opportunity, situated on a substantial corner plot. Originally a three-bedroom semi-detached house, it has undergone significant extensions, including a wrap-around extension on the ground floor, a first-floor extension, and the addition of a loft bedroom. The current state of the property is partially completed, offering the potential to be transformed into a spacious family home. The Vendor has an active planning permission to convert into two large flats and details can be seen on the Barnet planning portal with reference number 23/5104/FUL. Numerous materials have also been left at the house and will be included as part of the sale if required.

The existing layout allows for the creation of a large family residence with six bedrooms, two/three reception rooms and wrap around garden.

While the property is partially renovated, it is essential to note that it requires a buyer who is prepared to undertake a substantial project. This presents an excellent opportunity for those looking to customise and complete the renovation to their specifications. Whether pursuing the development of a generous family home or exploring the potential for multiple flats, this property offers versatility and the chance to shape it into a desirable living space.
