Location

Primrose Hill Works is within easy reach of London's transport network with Chalk Farm and Camden Town stations a short walk away. The West End and the City are easily accessible, as well as connections from mainline stations to destinations beyond London.

Gloucester Avenue itself offers an eclectic mix of cafés, pubs, bars and restaurants – with amenities literally on the doorstep of Primrose Hill Works. Beneath the offices on ground floor level, you find Melrose and Morgan, the perfect spot to grab your morning coffee, breakfast and lunch – and provisions to take home. Meanwhile, Michael Nadra's restaurant offers Michelin Star dining – perfect for client entertaining and special occasions.

Description

Primrose Hill Works is undergoing a transformation to provide contemporary designed office space in a canal-side Primrose Hill location. The building features an external courtyard, leading to the refurbished reception area. The light-filled office floors have been finished to a Cat A standard offering occupiers the perfect blank canvas.

The reception sets the tone for the standard of finishes and design details throughout the building. A curated palette of materials, create a calm and welcoming environment, with space for a breakout area – perfect for meeting, collaborating or catching up.

The expansive roof terrace offers occupiers the chance to take in the views across Primrose Hill and the wider London Landscape. The perfect spot to take five and perhaps do a bit of celebrity spotting below.

The building is an environment that looks after its occupiers. With the artisan café Melrose & Morgan on-site, cycle-in access and a private roof terrace up on the third floor, Primrose Hill Works has everything required for occupier wellbeing and productivity.
