DESCRIPTION

Converted from a former stables some years ago, Rooftops is a particularly lovely and characterful property being externally attractive with rendered elevations set beneath pitched tiled rooves. The accommodation is rich in character and charm. There is an entrance vestibule with a useful utility/boot room leading off, a good practical space, also with a cloakroom/WC. The rustic, farmhouse style kitchen/dining room is another excellent space providing a good "hub" for the house and with the dining area opening to one of the terraces, thus providing a good sense of inside/outside living. The sitting room is another fantastic room with a snug area leading off and a large feature fireplace with exposed stonework and log burner, with this space also opening to the outside. To the upper floor there is a feature galleried landing. The principal bedroom is a good sized room with a study leading off, there are two further bedrooms, a family bathroom and a separate shower room. Rooftops also has wonderful outside spaces, primarily laid for ease of maintenance and enclosed by walling. There is a two tier terrace beside the entrance and a beautiful raised terrace set below one of the gables, being brick paved with mature raised beds, a potting shed and gated access out onto a shared driveway from where the allocated parking area is accessed.

From the shared driveway approach, paved steps with a feature canopy over and an external beam with climbing jasmine beside rise to the panel and part glazed entrance door. There is also an outside light.
