Description

The property has recently been completely refurbished to provide exceptional office space on the 4th floor. The building is Grade II* listed, constructed in 1902 by Charles Voysey, formerly the Sandersons Wallpaper Factory building. It has many iconic features, such as warehouse-style crittal windows and feature lighting. It also benefits from a passenger lift. The property is arranged over five floors totaling approximately 15,226 sq ft.

A lovely, leafy part of West London with a close-knit creative village community.
