It was the convenient location of this comfortable family home that first appealed to the current owners when they purchased the property back in 2004. Situated just a brief a ten-minute stroll from the centre of Diss, it is perfectly placed for a quick trip to the shops. The property is also excellent for commuters to London, Norwich and Ipswich, with direct rail services running regularly from Diss Station.

Access to the property is via a wide gravel driveway to the front which easily accommodates off-road parking for several vehicles as well as providing access to the attached single garage.

A brick porch serves as the entry point to this much-loved family home, offering a practical area for shedding shoes and coats. Stepping inside, you will find yourself in a bright, spacious hallway. From here, stairs rise to the first floor. The hallway boasts elegant parquet floor that was unexpectedly uncovered by the current owners when they lifted the carpets they inherited. To the left is a convenient ground floor cloakroom, while to the right is access to an open-plan sitting room and dining area. The L-shaped layout of this room is separated by a wide wall arch between the two areas, facilitating distinct purposing of each section and creating a fantastic space for relaxation and entertaining. The current owners have dedicated the larger section to the sitting room where a woodburner serves as a focal point. Installed personally by the current owner, it is advisable to have this installation signed off by a professional prior to use. Original wooden floorboards provide a cohesive feature throughout both areas within this sizeable room.

A bright conservatory area can be reached from the sitting room. This versatile space provides excellent views of the garden and access to the rear patio and garden via double doors. There is potential here to improve the year-round usability of this room by adding heating and a tiled roof (subject to necessary planning).

The expansive, dual aspect kitchen showcases a range of cottage style cabinets that span the entire length and breadth of the room. Cheerfully coloured splashback tiles adorn the walls and a large window frames delightful views of the garden, providing a pleasant backdrop for your household chores. A dual range electric oven with fitted extractor will remain with the property. The kitchen also provides access to the garden.

The useful utility room offers further cupboard space and a dedicated area for white goods. The current owners have managed to accommodate a washing machine, tumble drier and chest freezer in this room, which is testimony to its unexpectedly generous dimensions.

Daylight from windows on the ground floor and two landing windows brighten the winder staircase to the first floor, inviting plenty of natural light. There are four bedrooms to explore on this floor, each thoughtfully fitted with useful built-in wardrobes. A fully tiled family bathroom with full-sized bath and over-bath shower is also located on this level.

To the front of the property is an attached single garage with active planning permission for a single storey extension to the first floor. With the necessary planning permission, the garage space can also be transformed into part of the living accommodation should you wish.

The enclosed rear garden is laid predominantly to lawn, with an area of decking ready to accommodate your garden furniture as you step out of the kitchen door. An undercover dining space provides room to barbecue and dine, even when rain threatens and there is a greenhouse and raised beds for the green fingered purchaser. A wooden shed offers storage for garden tools and furniture.
