What our Vendor Loves

This has been the family home for thirty years and we are told that it has been the perfect place to live and raise a family. The overriding sense here is the friendliness of the street and warmth of the neighbours. In fact, the neighbours have also commented on how much our sellers will be missed when they move! The children have grown up here, and as a family with young children this was incredibly convenient as the house lies seconds away from the local primary and secondary schools, so walking to and from was a breeze. The quiet setting and the garden with its and sunny orientation will also be something that they would love to pack up and take with them if only they could.
