LOCATION

King Edward House is located at the centre of Birmingham's beating commercial heart, close to everything an occupier could need: amenities, public transport and the regional road network.

Birmingham benefits from unrivalled connectivity, ensuring ease of staff recruitment, retention and the ability to access clients and service providers.

The new HS2 terminal, when complete, will further enhance the city's connectivity. The terminal will be located less than a 5-minute walk from the building which in turn will connect the city into central London in 44 minutes.

For your staff to commute, the location of King Edward House couldn't be easier. New Street Station is located less than a 3-minute walk away whilst Snow Hill and Moor Street stations are located 8 and 5 minutes away respectively. By road, Birmingham lies at the heart of the UK's motorway network with direct access to the M5, M6, M40 and M42 motorways.
