Description

The subject property comprises a single story, detached building constructed in the 1960's. The property has brick elevations beneath a pitched, asbestos sheet roof to the main building with double glazed windows. Internally, the unit is arranged as a entrance hall, with two separate halls to either side of the property. There is a bar at the far end with a staff kitchen and w/c facilities.

The majority of the site is used as a car park which is approximately 3ft above the lower part of where the property sits.

Location

Lambourn is a small village in West Berkshire, lying to the north of the M4 between Swindon and Newbury. Lambourn can be accessed via the M4 at Junction 14, via the A338. The property is located approximately 0.2 miles from the centre of the village and is bounded by residential dwellings to the north and east. The village has a primary school, The Lambourn Centre and Lambourn Sports Club. The area is widely known for its horseracing training, being the largest centre after Newmarket.
