Sunny Brae, built in 1908, is a detached double fronted country house located in the pretty hamlet of Hammer Vale. Set in an elevated position enjoying spectacular far reaching rural views, this beautiful home really is something very special.

Modernised in recent years, Sunny Brae offers the conveniences of modern living whilst retaining the Edwardian charm expected from a property of this period. An air source heat pump provides under floor heating and bespoke double-glazed windows feature throughout.

The spacious, centrally positioned, light-filled hallway leads off to a stunning kitchen/dining/family room with larder, enhanced by large dual aspect windows and skylights providing spectacular views across the garden, fields and woodland beyond. Leading off from the other side of the hall is a bay fronted sitting room with open fireplace leading through to a cosy snug with log burner. At the end of the hall, you'll find a WC, utility room and rear access to the courtyard garden.
