Steps lead up to the main living room, which benefits from a Juliet balcony overlooking the rear garden and a Velux window, bringing in plenty of natural light. The space is finished with wood-effect laminate flooring and has a light, open feel. Steps down lead into a modern kitchen, fitted approximately three years ago. There's a pull-out larder cupboard, carousel corner unit, and under-counter lighting, complemented by pendant lights, spotlights, and two tall grey radiators. There's also a shed and a grey decked seating area at the bottom of the garden. The garden is tree-lined at the rear, backing onto the Beach Estate.
