Fox Hill Bank, 119 Sough Road, Darwen

Reduced to offers over £340,000

Historic Cottage with Attached Barn on Sough Road bridge formerly known as Fox Hill Bank – Panoramic Views & Development Potential

Set in the historically significant area, this charming stone-built cottage with an attached barn dates back to the 1800s. Brimming with period character and potential, the property offers a rare opportunity to create a truly unique home in a convenient yet private setting with breathtaking views toward Darwen Tower and beyond.

The cottage has two well-proportioned reception rooms, ideal for family living or entertaining. A sun lounge to the rear enjoys stunning views over the private, south-facing formal gardens, offering a peaceful retreat in all seasons. The dining kitchen provides a homely hub for the property, while an additional flexible room currently used as an office, utility, or snug adds further practicality.

Fox Hill Bank, 119 Sough Road, Darwen

A standout feature is the attached barn, which spans the full height 26ft from floor to roof pitch and boasts impressive double barn doors-presenting exciting potential for conversion (subject to planning), workshop use, or even as a studio or event space.

Upstairs in the cottage, there are two generously proportioned bedrooms, along with a third room that would be ideal as a walk-in dressing room, and a spacious family bathroom. While the cottage would benefit from modernisation, it retains immense charm and the potential for enhancement. The barn remains largely untouched, offering a blank canvas for the next owner's vision.

With its exceptional views, rich history, and scope for development, this property is perfect for those seeking a lifestyle change or a project in a private yet urban location.
