OUTSIDE: The substantial landscaped wildlife gardens are a particular feature of this cottage. At the front, steps cross a terraced border onto a shared brick pathway which leads to the front door with pollen rich perennials planted to the side. At the back, the kitchen looks onto a sandstone courtyard planted with climbers and a mature wisteria scrambling over a brick shed. To one side, a rose arbour is perfect for a table and chairs and overlooks two large bee friendly borders, a haven for insects and butterflies. Beyond that is a mature oak tree under planted with shade loving plants, lawn, a pond, a meadow area, an array of trees including specimen Himalayan birches, and a native hedgerow boundary. Timber garden shed. Unofficial parking in the layby opposite.
