

This charming detached bungalow sitting within a lovely secluded site screened behind a high level brick perimeter wall which gives the property an enormous sense of peace and tranquility, enjoys a most prestigious position on one of Ashbrooke's most desirable streets.

Internal accommodation is arranged across the ground floor and comprises a reception hall, lounge, dining room, and kitchen which enjoys a lovely open plan arrangement, two double size bedrooms, an ensuite, bathroom and utility whilst to the exterior there is ample secure off street parking for numerous cars and an extra width garage and carport which can be accessed via double timber gates, whilst a separate single gate provides access to the main plot with its delightful gardens. Benefiting from gas central heating, the property is in need of general updating and modernising but has huge potential. Externally there are well proportioned gardens to the front, side and rear with established lawns and mature trees, shrubs and Evergreens.

Nestled within the heart of Ashbrooke Conservation area, the property is walking distance from all amenities including St Aidan's Boys and St Anthony's Girls School, Argyle House and the City centre whilst excellent transport links provide convenient access through to the wider North East region including Newcastle Upon Tyne and Durham City.

A property of this location and calibre very rarely enters the open market and this home is sure to command a huge level of interest. Internal inspection is therefore recommended to avoid disappointment.
